To preserve capital in real (inflation-adjusted) terms over the medium to longer term. Investors should expect low levels of reward and a low correlation to stockmarket behaviour, including modest fluctuations in values.

Risk profile

The strategy is managed with a maximum target of 20% equity market exposure and is categorised as a Bordier Risk Profile 1 and Defaqto Risk Rating 2 (Very Cautious).

About the Platform Managed Portfolio Service

Our Platform Managed Portfolio Service ('PMPS') has been awarded the maximum Defaqto 5 stars as a solution for advisers to manage client assets on a third-party platform. The service offers five investment growth strategies ranging from Defensive to Adventurous. Each strategy has a different level of risk and potential return, with risk categorised by equity market exposure that increases in increments of 20% for each strategy.

Investment update

Geopolitical events have continued to impact the short-term direction of financial markets and given rise to a period of increased volatility. Global stockmarkets faced headwinds as a result, which meant negative month-end returns for some regions. It was pleasing to see some of our active managers buck the trend by generating positive returns. Fixed interest markets enjoyed a more positive journey. The Bank of England's decision, just after July's month end, to follow European Central Bank's 25-basis points interest rate cut has led to a real expectation that the US Federal Reserve will also follow suit. In the US, we have seen a helpful and well overdue adjustment in some mega-cap stocks. We believe this is a healthy sign that investment fundamentals are starting to reassert themselves and should play into the hands of our underlying active managers who are naturally skewed away from the mainstream index concentrations. In the short term we may see more volatility, however there should still be plenty of opportunities in the next part of the economic/market cycle. With global economic growth forecasts for 2024 and 2025 approaching 3% and two-thirds of recent US corporate earnings beating analysts' expectations, we remain comfortable at top end of the strategy's allowable equity range. In the US sector we have increased our active exposure through the addition of the Arbrook American Equities fund, whilst reducing our allocation to US passive investments. Recent weaker-than-expected forward-looking US economic data and employment numbers have spooked global markets with concerns over the health of the world's largest economy. This could put larger US interest rate cuts back on the table once more. Although the near-term market volatility is unwelcome, our more diversified stockmarket positioning, with underlying active managers who are more disciplined about value and with a greater focus on investment fundamentals, should allow a safer passage through volatile periods. Reductions in alternative investments earlier this year allowed for an increased allocation to fixed interest positions – these investments are exhibiting their true defensive qualities during current stockmarket weakness. We remain very content with our stance, expecting further benefits as central banks become more confident in needing to switch their monetary policy tactics.
